RESUME

I am 26 years old, a developer from the Historical capital of India, Varanasi. Programming is not just a career path for me, but also a hobby and a passion of mine. I have a BSc in Information Technology and a Masters of Computer Applications I started coding sometime around 2011, which is when I started studying Computer Science in the Punjab Technical University. After getting my BSc, I studied MCA. I've worked with various technologies including Networking and Database in the past, but recently I've taken an interest in web development and web applications and programming. Ever since then, I've considered myself devoted to computer science.
